Princess Kitty & Luna

STORY TIME

BATH TIME

Princess Kitty led Luna from the field where she'd been rolling in the mud.

“You’re such a messy pony!”
she laughed, scuffing up her mane.

“Today, I’m going to give you a lovely bath.”

‘A BATH!’
thought Luna stopping in her tracks.

Luna, absolutely, totally, without doubt, hated having a bath!

Luna plonked her bum on the floor and refused to move.

"Luna!"

cried Kitty

"Get Up!"

Kitty pulled on the rope.

She pulled and pulled.
She pushed and poked.
She pulled and she pushed.

But Luna simply wouldn't budge.

Thinking that the princess had given up, she relaxed in the sunshine as Kitty brushed her gently.

But, unknown to Luna, Kitty had another plan and as her pony slept, she turned on the hose!

As the cold water squirted at Luna she jumped up high with fright.

This made Kitty laugh out loud.

FUN FACT
Princess Kitty doesn't like having her hair washed!

Luna was furious!
She hated the cold water and promptly put her hoof on the hose to stop the water.

“Luna!”
shouted Kitty “Get off!”

She pulled and pulled.
She huffed and she puffed.

Yet, Luna did not budge and the bulge in the hose just got Bigger and BIGGER!

“Lunaaaaaaa!”

Luna then gave a stropy snort and took her hoof off the hose. To Kitty’s horror the water rushed through the hose and burst out like a firework.

Kitty gasped as the cold water hit her with force.
This made Luna laugh!

Time for some help, and Queen Beatrice was ready for action! Armed with sponges, she and the princess were ready to scrub!

They scrubbed Luna's face, and washed behind her ears.

They rubbed her body, and all four legs.

They shampooed her mane and lathered her tail.

There was no part of Luna left un-soaped, she was completely covered in bubbles!

Suddenly, Luna realised that the bucket of soap was in reach. With a swift kick she sent the bucket up into the air!

FUN FACT

Horses have great eyesight and can see in the dark

FUN FACT

Horses can sleep standing up

The bucket went up, Up and UP

The water splashed and splashed

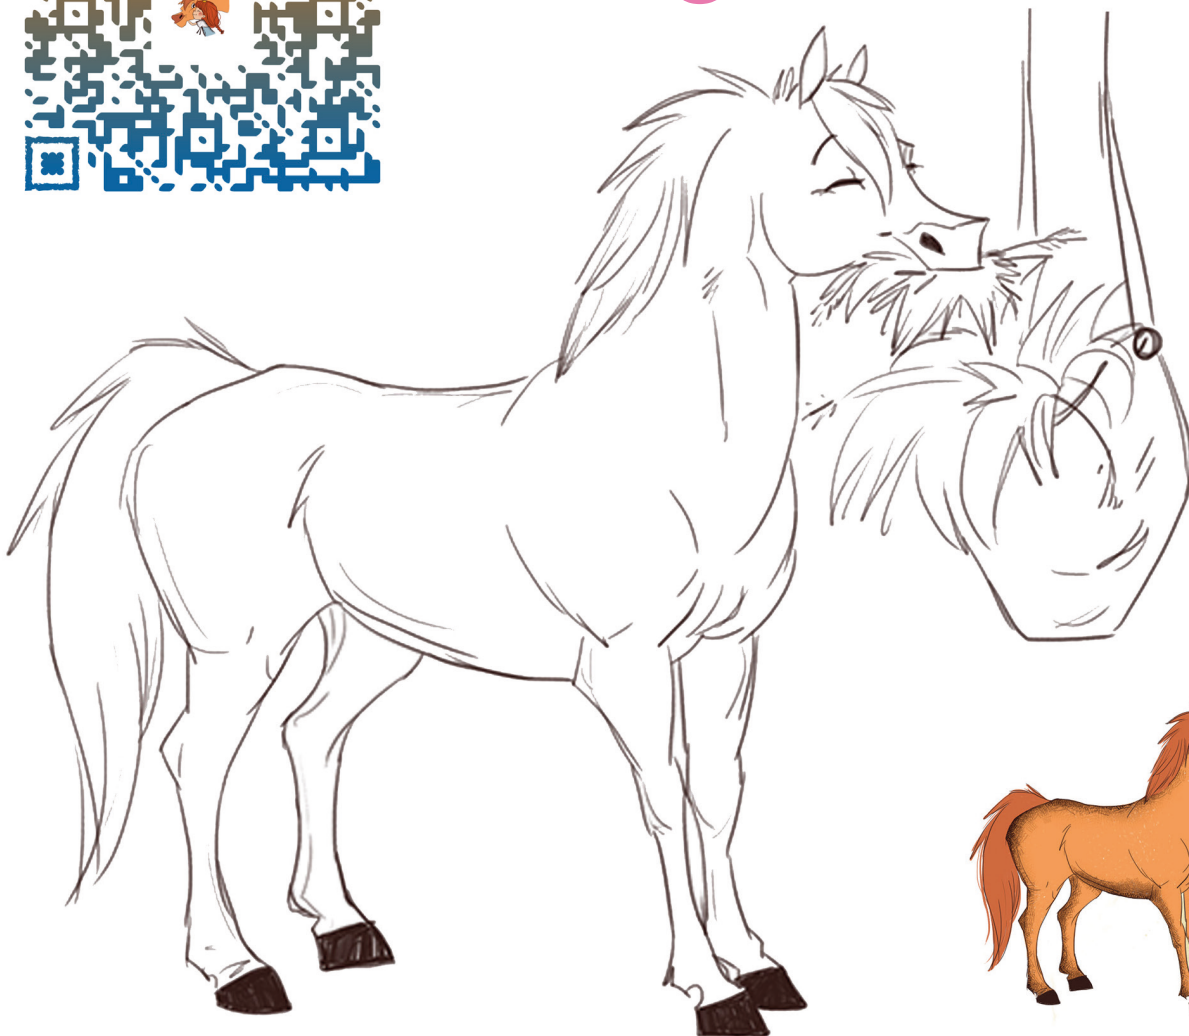

No sooner had it gone up, it had come down and landed straight on the Queens head!

“Lunaaaaaaa!”

echoed the Queen from inside the bucket, knowing this was going to be a long bath time!

BUBBLE BUDDIES BAY

Plastic Peril

Based on the books by George D. Lebesis

ILLUSTRATED BY TAMSIN BAKER

Fun Fact

Gobies sleep in the sand

Apollo the Goby is having a nap in the sand. He wakes up to find he is trapped in a plastic bag caught up in the coral “Help! I can’t get out?”

Sophia the Seahorse is the first to arrive followed by Dimitra the Octopus and Orestis the Clownfish

“Stop struggling, Apollo, you’ll make it worse! Don’t worry, we will help get you out.”

“I’m not worried Sophia, I’m hungry!”

Sophia with her tail and Orestis with his fins pull and tug at the plastic bag, but it’s too slippery...

FUN FACT

Octopuses have eight arms.

... even Dimitra, the Octopus, with her eight arms can not untangle the plastic bag from the coral

“This will not do. I have an idea!”

Near the shore,
Sophia finds the perfect creature to help them - a friendly crab.

“Excuse me,
my friend Apollo is trapped in a plastic bag! Do you think you could help?”

“Of course!
My claws are great for gripping - lead
the way.”

her sharp claws.

Finally Apollo is free!

“I’M FREE!!
Thank you,
thank you,
thank you!
DINNER TIME!”

“Now I’d better go and put this bag where it belongs so it can’t trap another sea creature!”

Elephants Never Forget

Apart From Junior

By Terry Willis

Illustrated by Sarah-Leigh Wills

Mr & Mrs Elephant had a little son. It made them very happy and so glad. His mum named him Junior, because she said that her baby looked exactly like his dad.

There is one thing we know about elephants, it is that they never forget.

But this was not the case with Junior and his parents were starting to fret.

All the little elephants attended lessons each day. But, first thing every morning Junior was up and away.

The elephant teacher asked,

“Where is Junior? He’s missing school rather a lot.”

The little elephants looked at each other and in chorus replied...

“He Forgot!”

At elephant school they learnt many things that elephants need to know;

How to march,

How to trumpet,

How to roll in the mud.

How to swing their trunks to and fro.

Junior just wanted to be an explorer.
He wanted to explore all over the land
he wandered each day.
He loved everything he saw!

He loved the plains and the rivers.

The waterfalls, mountains and streams.

Junior explored all over the land, he imagined a map in his head.
He knew every pathway and hidden route, different tracks he could follow instead.

FUN FACT

Elephants have large brains where memories are stored and so it's said they never forget.

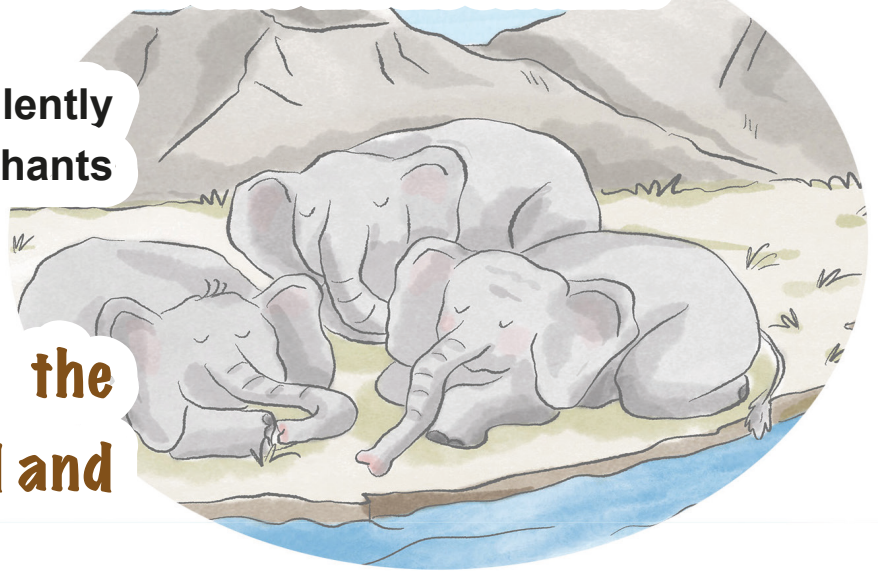

So Junior continued exploring, forgetting school every day.

He was learning about the land where he lived, learning in a different way.

Then one dreadful day something happened when the young elephants were down by the stream. Their parents were resting away in the shade, they did not hear the cries and the screams.

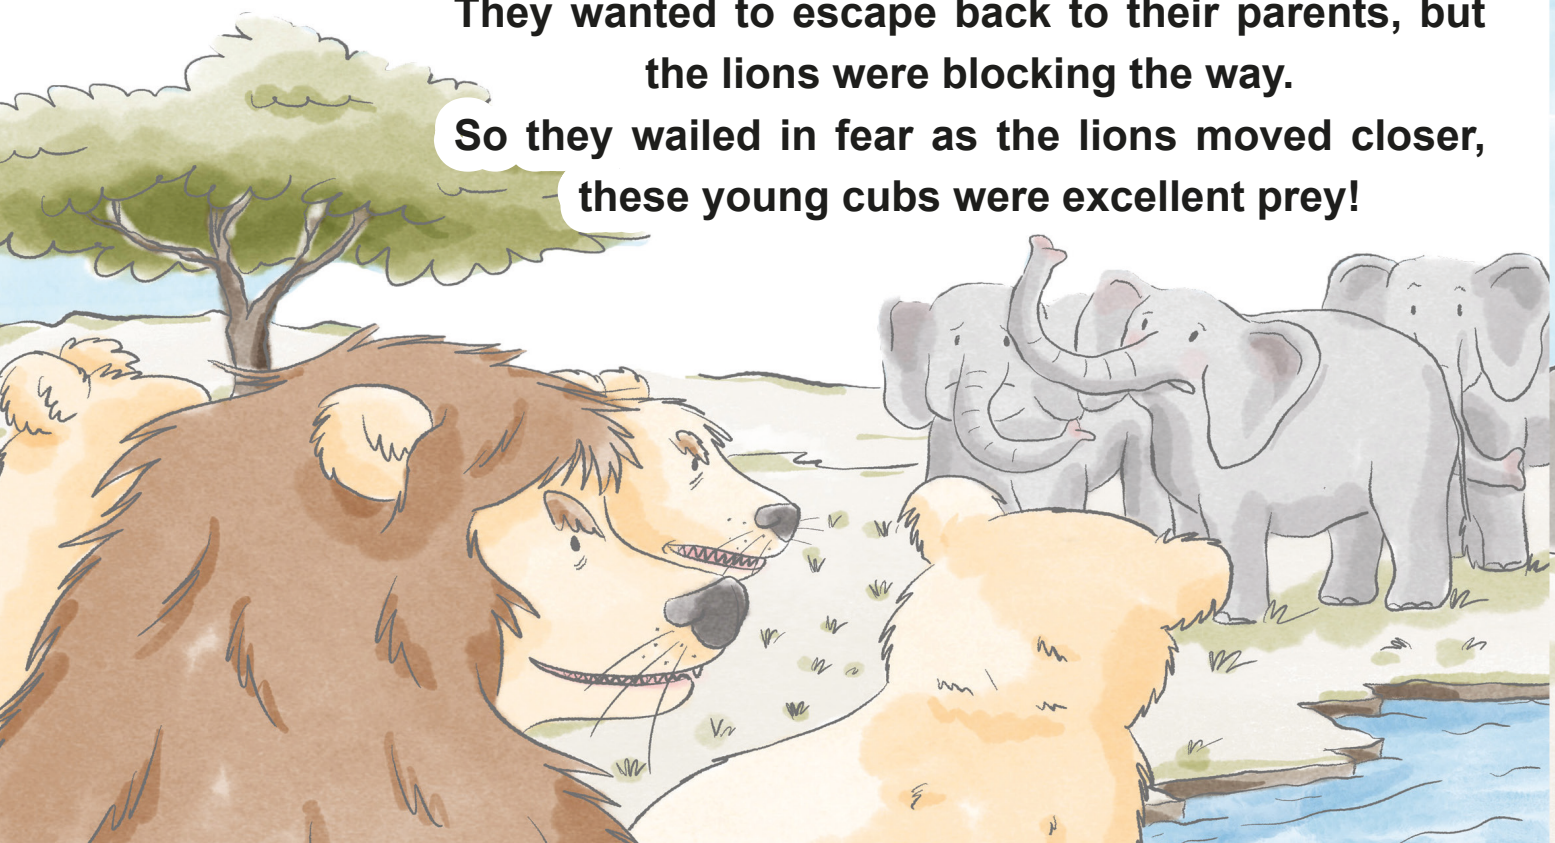

A great pride of lions crept silently up to where the young elephants played.

The elephants spotted the lions, they were terrified and dismayed!

They wanted to escape back to their parents, but the lions were blocking the way.

So they wailed in fear as the lions moved closer, these young cubs were excellent prey!

The baby elephants turned and fled, far away from home. They swam over the river and escaped the lions. But then found themselves lost and alone.

lost and alone.

They cried aloud,

"We want to get back!"

"I'll help you." they heard a voice say.

There stood Junior waving his trunk,

"I'll lead you, I know the way!"

The happy young elephants followed their friend, he led them all safely home. He had explored all over the land, they were glad he wanted to roam.

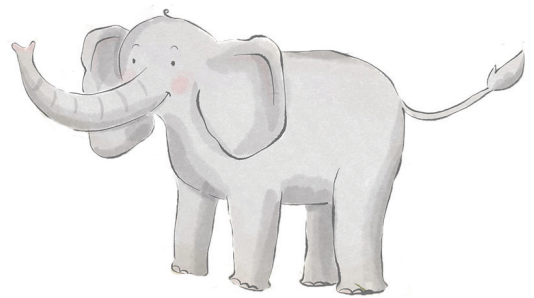

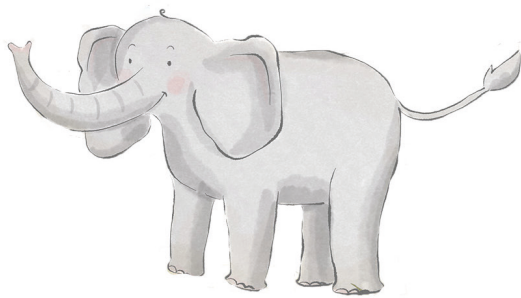

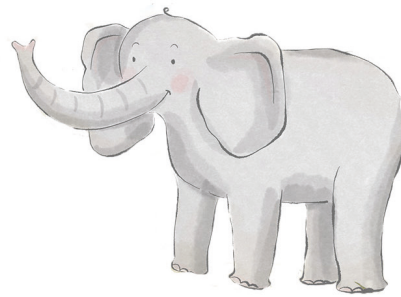

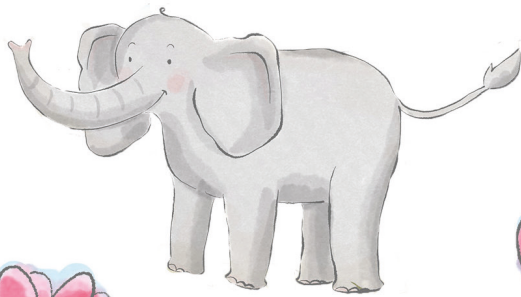

The older elephants called Junior a hero, they shook his trunk and they trumpeted loud.
His mum and dad stood by their son.
They were happy and so very proud!
